

Stamped and Diecut Sunflower Focal Point Card

11 OCTOBER 2024

Create a beautiful card featuring a stamped and die-cut sunflower arrangement as the focal point. This project combines yellow and black sunflowers with a decorative letter 'H' on a white background with gold frame detailing. The main techniques include stamping, die-cutting, ink blending and dimensional layering to create an eye-catching floral design.

WHAT YOU WILL NEED

See the show for everything used.

STEP 1

Stamp the sunflower image from the A6 stamp set onto white or light pink cardstock using grey or black ink. Position the stamped image centrally on your card front.

STEP 2

Die-cut the stamped sunflower image using the coordinating die set. This will create a precise cut-out of your stamped design ready for layering onto your card.
Watch this step: 30:30 into the show

STEP 3

Layer the diecut sunflower onto patterned paper from the Hope Blooms collection, positioning it as your focal point on the card.

STEP 4

Mount the layered sunflower element onto your white card base using wet glue or adhesive, positioning it centrally within the gold border.

Watch this step: 31:00 into the show

STEP 5

Add a sentiment and any additional embellishments to complete your card. The stamped and die-cut sunflower design creates a beautiful focal point on the white card base with gold matting.

TIPS FROM THE SHOW

- The snip ability of the diecut allows you to remove the background if desired, creating a cleaner look.
- Layering the diecut element adds dimension and makes the focal point stand out from the background.
- You can colour the stamped image before die-cutting for additional customisation.
